

GUIDELINES FOR THE PREPARATION OF REPORTS BY MEMBER STATES ON THE APPLICATION OF THE 1974 RECOMMENDATION CONCERNING EDUCATION FOR INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING, CO-OPERATION AND PEACE AND EDUCATION RELATING TO HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS

I. Introduction

A. About the 1974 Recommendation

1. UNESCO's *1974 Recommendation concerning Education for International Understanding, Co-operation and Peace and Education relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms*¹ (the "1974 Recommendation") aims to promote international education and world peace through understanding, solidarity and cooperation. It was adopted on 19 November 1974 by the General Conference of UNESCO at its 18th session.

2. The 1974 Recommendation applies to formal, non-formal and informal education and to all levels, from pre-primary to tertiary and adult education and lifelong learning. The General Conference recommended "that Member States should apply" the provisions included in the 1974 Recommendation "by taking whatever legislative or other steps" that provide institutional (e.g. policies and legal frameworks) and pedagogical (e.g. curricula, teacher training, educational materials, equipment, and student assessment) support for its implementation, based on the "objectives", referred to in paragraph 4 of the 1974 Recommendation, "regarded as major guiding principles of education policy" including: an international dimension and a global perspective on education, cultural diversity, interdependence, communication, rights and responsibilities, international solidarity and cooperation, and problem solving.

3. Today, the principles of the 1974 Recommendation apply equally well to Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) and to Global Citizenship Education (GCED) and therefore represent a powerful tool for promoting the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and in particular SDG Target 4.7 on the promotion of sustainable development and global citizenship through education, Target 12.8 on access to information on sustainable development and Target 13.3 on climate change education.

4. The General Conference in its 39th session recommended the use of the 1974 Recommendation reporting process to support the implementation and monitoring of Target 4.7 of Sustainable Development Goal 4 (39 C/Resolution 79). The UNESCO Executive Board at its 209th session approved the use of the current guidelines for both the monitoring of the 1974 Recommendation and the collection of data needed for the following global SDG indicator for which UNESCO is custodian (209 EX/Decision 18.II):

4.7.1, 12.8.1 and 13.3.1: The extent to which (i) global citizenship education and (ii) education for sustainable development are mainstreamed in (a) national education policies; (b) curricula; (c) teacher education and (d) student assessment.

5. Questions marked with an asterisk (*) will be used in the calculation of the respective indicators (Table 1). As approved by the Inter-Agency and Expert Group on the SDG Indicators, the indicators will be calculated for primary and secondary education only.

B. Reporting obligations

6. The General Conference, at its 18th session, when adopting the 1974 Recommendation recommended “that Member States submit [...] reports concerning the action taken by them in pursuance of this recommendation”. Moreover, in accordance with Article VIII of UNESCO’s Constitution “Each Member State shall submit to the Organization [...] reports [...] on the action taken upon the recommendations and conventions referred to in Article IV, paragraph 4.”

7. Thus, all UNESCO Member States are expected to report on the steps they have taken to implement the 1974 Recommendation preferably by completing the following questionnaire. Such reporting takes place every four years.

II. Guidelines for completion of the questionnaire

8. This questionnaire and its accompanying guidelines are addressed to Ministers responsible for relations with UNESCO. The questionnaire is typically completed by Ministries of Education and other government authorities responsible for education. Responses should cover, as far as possible, education at all levels of government, including sub-national levels where applicable as well as education outside the government sector.

9. National respondents are encouraged to consult widely both within, across and beyond government, including with Ministries of Environment, with national human rights institutions, the education sector, civil society partners and others, as necessary, to gather the information needed to complete the questionnaire.

10. Responses to the seventh consultation should cover:

- (i) the time period 2017-2020;
- (ii) education at all levels of formal education from pre-primary to tertiary education as well as non-formal education;
- (iii) all levels of government that have responsibility for education within the country; and
- (iv) where possible, education outside the government sector.

11. To assist countries in responding to this questionnaire, UNESCO has developed the following set of global citizenship education and education for sustainable development themes. The list is based on a review of current common practices in many countries as well as a review of relevant literature. While the terms ESD and GCED may be used differently in some countries, the list of themes typically captures what are seen as key elements of Target 4.7. Please refer to the definitions of key terms in Section III before completing the questionnaire.

Global citizenship education and education for sustainable development

- 1. cultural diversity and tolerance
 - 1.1 international or intercultural understanding, solidarity and cooperation
 - 1.2 intercultural and interreligious dialogue
 - 1.3 local, national and/or global citizenship

 - 7.1 environmental health as it pertains to human well-being, disaster risk reduction
 - 7.2 health of the planet for future generations
 - 7.3 sustainable cities and communities
8. sustainable consumption and production
 - 8.1 responsible and sustainable lifestyles
 - 8.2 green economy, green jobs
 - 8.3 sustainable energy

III. Definitions of key terms

Term	Definition
Themes of global citizenship and education for sustainable development
1. Cultural diversity and tolerance	Education about and for diversity including language, ethnicity, race, religion as well as the development of tolerance, mutual respect and appreciation for cultural diversity. It includes intercultural and interreligious dialogue, understanding, solidarity and co-operation, and citizenship education.
2. Gender equality education	Education that addresses the wider issue of gender equality by promoting new attitudes and patterns of belief, transforming the way people think about traditional gender roles and helping to build long-term sustainable change. It examines how gender roles, activities, needs, opportunities, rights and entitlements affect men, women, girls and boys differently. It deals with the relationships between females and males, their access to and control of resources and the constraints they face relative to each other. It respects the rights of all learners – women, men, boys and girls – equally and gives equal access to learning opportunities, resources and protections. All learners benefit from and are treated in education equally without the limitations set by stereotypes, rigid gender roles and prejudices. It covers gender-based equal opportunities, gender equality and justice, and gender roles, identity and stereotypes.
3. Human rights education	Education that promotes universal respect for and observance of all human rights and fundamental freedoms and thus contributes, inter alia, to the prevention of human rights violations and abuses by providing persons with knowledge, skills and understanding and developing their attitudes and behaviours, to empower them to contribute to the building and promotion of a universal culture of human rights. It includes equality and non-discrimination, human rights values, dignity, justice, inclusion and participation and respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms.
4. Peace and non-violence	Education about peace and peace-building, mediation, conflict prevention and resolution, non-violence, reconciliation and living together peacefully. It includes advocating for friendly relations among peoples and nations, challenging negative stereotypes, promoting peaceful solutions, learning to live together and preventing violent extremism and other forms of violence including bullying.
5. Climate change education	Education to help people, in particular youth, understand, address, mitigate, and adapt to the impacts of climate change. It encourages changes in attitudes and behaviours needed to put the world on a more sustainable development path, and build a new generation of climate change-aware citizens. It covers various responses to climate change including mitigation, adaptation, impact reduction and early warning.
6. Environmental sustainability	Education about responsible interactions with the environment to avoid depletion or degradation and to promote environmental quality and health. It includes, caring for the planet and protecting nature, environmental justice, biodiversity and water.
7. Human survival and well-being	Education that promotes social well-being and harmony including in future generations due to healthy environmental systems. It includes health of the planet and environment related to human well-being, disaster risk reduction and sustainable cities and communities.

8. Sustainable consumption and production	Education on the use and production of resources, products and services that have a minimal adverse impact on the environment. It promotes resource and energy efficiency, sustainable infrastructure and green jobs. It includes responsible and sustainable lifestyles, the green economy and sustainable energy.
Dimensions of learning
Knowledge	Factual information and understanding acquired through study and/or experience.
Skills	The ability to carry out a task well as a result of training, practice and innate aptitude. Skills may be physical, mental or both.
Values	Principles that form the foundation on which individuals conduct themselves and interact with others and with the environment around them.
Attitudes and behaviours	Ability to act on the basis of beliefs and knowledge acquired through study or experience.
Levels of education
Pre-primary	Education designed to support children's early cognitive, physical, social and emotional development and introduce young children to organized instruction outside of the family context. Participants are usually aged from three years.
Primary and secondary	Education designed to: (i) provide students with fundamental skills in reading, writing and mathematics (i.e. literacy and numeracy) and establish a solid foundation for learning and understanding core areas of knowledge and personal development (primary education); and (ii) prepare students for further education at post-secondary and tertiary levels and for entry into the labour market (secondary education). It includes both general and vocational education.
Tertiary	Education designed to provide learning activities in specialised fields of education. It aims at learning at a high level of complexity and specialisation. It includes both what is commonly understood as academic education and advanced vocational or professional education.
Types of education
Adult education	Education specifically targeted at individuals who are regarded as adults by their society to improve their technical or professional qualifications, further develop their abilities, enrich their knowledge with the purpose to complete a level of formal education, or to acquire, refresh or update their knowledge, skills and competencies in a particular field.
Formal education	Education that is institutionalized, intentional and planned through public organizations and recognized private bodies which – in their totality – constitute the formal education system of a country. Formal education programmes are recognized by the relevant national or sub-national education authorities. Formal education consists mostly of initial education (e.g., pre-primary, primary, secondary and tertiary education).
Non-formal education	Education that is an addition, alternative and/or a complement to formal education within the process of the lifelong learning of individuals. It is often provided to guarantee the right of access to education for all. It caters to people of all ages but does not necessarily apply a continuous pathway-structure. It may be short in duration and/or low-intensity, and it is typically provided in the form of short courses, workshops or seminars. Non-formal education mostly leads to qualifications that are not

	recognized by the relevant national or sub-national education authorities or to no qualifications at all. Non-formal education includes programmes on life skills including literacy and numeracy, work skills, and social or cultural development. Most types of adult education are also included.
Vocational education	Education that is designed for learners to acquire the knowledge, skills and competencies specific to a particular occupation or trade or class of occupations or trades. Vocational education may have work-based components (e.g. apprenticeships). Successful completion of such programmes leads to labour-market relevant vocational qualifications acknowledged as occupationally-oriented by the relevant national authorities and/or the labour market. Vocational education can be offered at secondary and post-secondary or tertiary levels of education.

VI. Questionnaire

A. Laws and policies (preamble and paras 4 and 7 of the 1974 Recommendation)

A1a. Please describe any specific national or sub-national laws, legislation or legal framework(s) in your country that govern the promotion of global citizenship education (GCED) and/or education for sustainable development (ESD). Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes² are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

On the national level, Article 6 of the Jordanian Constitution of 1952, in its third paragraph, assured that "The State shall ensure work and education within the limits of its possibilities, and shall ensure tranquillity and equal opportunities to all Jordanians."

In light of the resolutions of the First Educational Conference (September 1987), "Basic education shall be compulsory and free of charge in Government schools" according to Article 5 of the Education Law No. 3/1994 and its amendments, knowing that the basic education stage extends from the first grade to the tenth grade.

According to the fifth article of the law, the principles of educational policy are represented in "directing the educational system to be more compatible with the needs of the individual and society, and establishing a balance between them", emphasizing the importance of political education in the educational system, and consolidating the principles of participation, justice and democracy and their practice", directing the educational process to develop the citizen's ability to analyse, criticize, initiate creativity, positive dialogue, and the promotion of values derived from Arab Islamic civilization.

A1b. Please provide the full names of any laws, legislation or legal frameworks referred to in A1a and, where possible, web links to relevant documents.

- Article 6 of the Jordanian Constitution of 1952
- Article 5 of the Education Law No. 3/1994 and its amendments

² See the schema described in paragraph 11 of Section II of these guidelines.

*A2 Please indicate which GCED and ESD themes are covered in national or sub-national laws, legislation or legal frameworks on education by entering the appropriate number in each white cell.

A3a. Please describe any specific current national or sub-national education policies, frameworks or strategic objectives in your country that promote global citizenship education (GCED) and/or education for sustainable development (ESD). Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes³ are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

- The adult education regulation in the Ministry of Education No. 81 of 2005 defined the learner as a person enrolled in adult education and literacy classes regardless of gender, nationality, religion, language, and residency.
- Gender is included in the MOE strategic plan 2018-2022.
- SDG4 is included in the MOE strategic plan 2018-2022.
- The field of quality in the strategic plan includes school environment issues, nonviolence, life skills, and gender.
- GCED and ESD themes are mentioned explicitly in all national policies and strategic plans.

³ See the schema described in paragraph 11 of Section II of these guidelines.

B. Curriculum (paras 4 and 10-19 of the 1974 Recommendation)

B1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are mainstreamed in school curricula. Indicate whether topics are taught as standalone subjects or are integrated into the curricula of other subjects. Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes⁴ are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

- The social education books from the 1st grade
- 10th grade present these concepts in the form of lessons and sometimes in the form of activities.
- Most of the concepts are taught in separate lessons in the various curricula.
- All concepts of global citizenship and sustainable development are covered, either directly or integrated with the curriculum for adult education, For example: General Culture Book for Adult Education and Literacy / Beginners Stage in the second primary grade, there is a lesson talks about the concept of citizenship directly.

B1b. Please provide examples of curricula in which GCED and/or ESD are mainstreamed and, where possible, web links to relevant documents.

D. Student assessment (paras 4 and 5 of the 1974 Recommendation)

D1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are covered in student assessments and examinations. Indicate whether students are assessed only on their knowledge of and skills related to the topics being tested or also on their values, attitudes and/or behaviours.

- Learners' acquisition of these knowledge and concepts is measured by an educational supervisor.
- Through exams, these concepts is measured academically for all educational levels.
- There is an educational supervisor who follows the centers for adult education and literacy to evaluate learners through teacher evaluation.

*D2 Please indicate whether the GCED and ESD themes below are generally included in student assessments or examinations at each level of education by entering the appropriate number in each white cell.

E. Mainstreaming of GCED and ESD in laws and policies, curricula, teacher education and student assessment (paras 4-5, 7, 10-19 and 33-37 of the 1974 Recommendation)

*E1 Based on your responses to questions in the previous four sections (laws and policies, curricula, teacher education and student assessment) please indicate to what extent global citizenship education (GCED) and education for sustainable development (ESD) are mainstreamed⁵ in (a) education laws and policies, (b) curricula (c) teacher education (including the training of trainers and educators) and (d) student assessment in your country. Please enter the appropriate number in each white cell in the table below.

KEY:

0 Not at all

GCED and ESD are not mainstreamed.

1 Partially

Some GCED and/or ESD themes⁶ are mainstreamed. Select this option if GCED is mainstreamed but ESD is not (or vice versa).

2 Extensively

Most GCED and ESD themes are mainstreamed.

9 Not known

It is not known whether GCED and ESD are mainstreamed or not.

99 Not applicable

The given level of government does not have responsibility for the given component (policies, curricula, teacher education or student assessment) and/or does not have responsibility for the given level or type of education. This may occur at the national level in federal countries where education is the responsibility of individual states or at the sub-national level in small countries where there is only one level of government.

⁵ GCED and ESD are mainstreamed if their themes are mentioned explicitly in relevant documents and are expected to be implemented by the relevant authorities (e.g. Ministries, regional or local education authorities), educational institutions (e.g. schools, colleges and universities) and/or education professionals (e.g. teachers, lecturers, trainers and educators) as appropriate.

⁶ Refer to the schema in paragraph 11 of Section II of these guidelines.

F. Technical and vocational education and training (paras 25-29 of the 1974 Recommendation)

- F1 Please describe any major initiatives that have been undertaken to promote GCED and/or ESD in technical and vocational education and training. Describe briefly the outcomes and impact of such initiatives and provide examples of good practices.

The Ministry of Education / Department of Vocational Education and Production established the "School Furniture" initiative, and it is aimed to recycle and maintain the used school furniture in Ministry of Education schools. The outcomes and impact of this initiative was that the Ministry of Education saved money instead of purchasing new furniture.

The Ministry of Education /Department of Vocational Education and Production decided to assume responsibility for manufacturing office furniture for all Ministry of Education employees, as well as cooperating with many ministries and institutions for the same purpose. This brings financial revenues for the Ministry of Education, as well as providing students in the field of vocational education and production with more practical experience.

There are financial instructions for these initiatives, so these amounts are distributed to each of the Ministry of Education, the school and teachers.

The whole texture of technical education system is currently subject to a thorough revision (by the Ministry of Higher Education & Science Research) towards restructuring and promoting of its components: focusing on the following: A) Curriculum & Training. B) Governance Mode. C) Partnership with Private and productive sector. D) Infrastructure. E) Accreditation criteria and International Accreditations. F) Admission Police. G) Teaching staff. H) Employment rates and market absorption potentials for graduates. This had been inspired by the following goals:

To prepare highly skilled graduates who can contribute positively to socio-economic development.

To be able to survive today's fiercely competitive and technologically oriented world.

To boost industrial and economic standing in Jordan and in the region.

As well, a new outline for career development within technical streams has been recently adopted (including bridging, technical degrees and certificates).

G. Adult education (para 30 of the 1974 Recommendation)

- G1 Please describe any major initiatives that have been undertaken to promote GCED and/or ESD in adult education and other forms of non-formal education including youth education, out-of-school education, etc. Describe briefly the outcomes and impact of such initiatives and provide examples of good practices.

The Ministry of Education established continuous and approved programs to provide educational services to dropout children and youth to qualify them for advanced professional courses through the Vocational Training Corporation.

MOE implemented awareness campaigns for students in GCED/ESD themes. For examples: environmental campaigns and also organizing other initiatives and activities in cooperation with other ministries such as the ministry of environment and ministry of social development including issues concerning youth engagement in GCED & ESD.

H. Research and International Co-operation (paras 41-45 of the 1974 Recommendation)

I. Any other comments

- 11 Please indicate whether your country has faced any constraints, in particular related to global or national crises, including natural disasters, in implementing the 1974 Recommendation during the reporting period.

The Covid-19 crisis had a severe impact on education, so that since March 2020, education has become a distance learning for both school education and higher education.

- 12 Please provide any other relevant information or clarifications regarding the implementation of the 1974 Recommendation or the mainstreaming of GCED and ESD in your country's education system.

All concepts of global citizenship education (GCED) and education for sustainable development (ESD) are included in the educational system in the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan through cross-ministerial initiatives awards, competitions, seminars and conferences.
