

GUIDELINES FOR THE PREPARATION OF REPORTS BY MEMBER STATES ON THE APPLICATION OF THE 1974 RECOMMENDATION CONCERNING EDUCATION FOR INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING, CO-OPERATION AND PEACE AND EDUCATION RELATING TO HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS

I. Introduction

A. About the 1974 Recommendation

1. UNESCO's *1974 Recommendation concerning Education for International Understanding, Co-operation and Peace and Education relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms*¹ (the "1974 Recommendation") aims to promote international education and world peace through understanding, solidarity and cooperation. It was adopted on 19 November 1974 by the General Conference of UNESCO at its 18th session.

2. The 1974 Recommendation applies to formal, non-formal and informal education and to all levels, from pre-primary to tertiary and adult education and lifelong learning. The General Conference recommended "that Member States should apply" the provisions included in the 1974 Recommendation "by taking whatever legislative or other steps" that provide institutional (e.g. policies and legal frameworks) and pedagogical (e.g. curricula, teacher training, educational materials, equipment, and student assessment) support for its implementation, based on the "objectives", referred to in paragraph 4 of the 1974 Recommendation, "regarded as major guiding principles of education policy" including: an international dimension and a global perspective on education, cultural diversity, interdependence, communication, rights and responsibilities, international solidarity and cooperation, and problem solving.

3. Today, the principles of the 1974 Recommendation apply equally well to Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) and to Global Citizenship Education (GCED) and therefore represent a powerful tool for promoting the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and in particular SDG Target 4.7 on the promotion of sustainable development and global citizenship through education, Target 12.8 on access to information on sustainable development and Target 13.3 on climate change education.

4. The General Conference in its 39th session recommended the use of the 1974 Recommendation reporting process to support the implementation and monitoring of Target 4.7 of Sustainable Development Goal 4 (39 C/Resolution 79). The UNESCO Executive Board at its 209th session approved the use of the current guidelines for both the monitoring of the 1974 Recommendation and the collection of data needed for the following global SDG indicator for which UNESCO is custodian (209 EX/Decision 18.II):

4.7.1, 12.8.1 and 13.3.1: The extent to which (i) global citizenship education and (ii) education for sustainable development are mainstreamed in (a) national education policies; (b) curricula; (c) teacher education and (d) student assessment.

5. Questions marked with an asterisk (*) will be used in the calculation of the respective indicators (Table 1). As approved by the Inter-Agency and Expert Group on the SDG Indicators, the indicators will be calculated for primary and secondary education only.

Table 1 Questions used in the calculation of the global SDG indicator for Targets 4.7, 12.8 and 13.3

B. Reporting obligations

6. The General Conference, at its 18th session, when adopting the 1974 Recommendation recommended “that Member States submit [...] reports concerning the action taken by them in pursuance of this recommendation”. Moreover, in accordance with Article VIII of UNESCO’s Constitution “Each Member State shall submit to the Organization [...] reports [...] on the action taken upon the recommendations and conventions referred to in Article IV, paragraph 4.”

7. Thus, all UNESCO Member States are expected to report on the steps they have taken to implement the 1974 Recommendation preferably by completing the following questionnaire. Such reporting takes place every four years.

II. Guidelines for completion of the questionnaire

8. This questionnaire and its accompanying guidelines are addressed to Ministers responsible for relations with UNESCO. The questionnaire is typically completed by Ministries of Education and other government authorities responsible for education. Responses should cover, as far as possible, education at all levels of government, including sub-national levels where applicable as well as education outside the government sector.

9. National respondents are encouraged to consult widely both within, across and beyond government, including with Ministries of Environment, with national human rights institutions, the education sector, civil society partners and others, as necessary, to gather the information needed to complete the questionnaire.

10. Responses to the seventh consultation should cover:

- (i) the time period 2017-2020;
- (ii) education at all levels of formal education from pre-primary to tertiary education as well as non-formal education;
- (iii) all levels of government that have responsibility for education within the country; and
- (iv) where possible, education outside the government sector.

11. To assist countries in responding to this questionnaire, UNESCO has developed the following set of global citizenship education and education for sustainable development themes. The list is based on a review of current common practices in many countries as well as a review of relevant literature. While the terms ESD and GCED may be used differently in some countries, the list of themes typically captures what are seen as key elements of Target 4.7. Please refer to the definitions of key terms in Section III before completing the questionnaire.

III. Definitions of key terms

Term	Definition
Themes of global citizenship and education for sustainable development
1. Cultural diversity and tolerance	Education about and for diversity including language, ethnicity, race, religion as well as the development of tolerance, mutual respect and appreciation for cultural diversity. It includes intercultural and interreligious dialogue, understanding, solidarity and co-operation, and citizenship education.
2. Gender equality education	Education that addresses the wider issue of gender equality by promoting new attitudes and patterns of belief, transforming the way people think about traditional gender roles and helping to build long-term sustainable change. It examines how gender roles, activities, needs, opportunities, rights and entitlements affect men, women, girls and boys differently. It deals with the relationships between females and males, their access to and control of resources and the constraints they face relative to each other. It respects the rights of all learners – women, men, boys and girls – equally and gives equal access to learning opportunities, resources and protections. All learners benefit from and are treated in education equally without the limitations set by stereotypes, rigid gender roles and prejudices. It covers gender-based equal opportunities, gender equality and justice, and gender roles, identity and stereotypes.
3. Human rights education	Education that promotes universal respect for and observance of all human rights and fundamental freedoms and thus contributes, inter alia, to the prevention of human rights violations and abuses by providing persons with knowledge, skills and understanding and developing their attitudes and behaviours, to empower them to contribute to the building and promotion of a universal culture of human rights. It includes equality and non-discrimination, human rights values, dignity, justice, inclusion and participation and respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms.
4. Peace and non-violence	Education about peace and peace-building, mediation, conflict prevention and resolution, non-violence, reconciliation and living together peacefully. It includes advocating for friendly relations among peoples and nations, challenging negative stereotypes, promoting peaceful solutions, learning to live together and preventing violent extremism and other forms of violence including bullying.
5. Climate change education	Education to help people, in particular youth, understand, address, mitigate, and adapt to the impacts of climate change. It encourages changes in attitudes and behaviours needed to put the world on a more sustainable development path, and build a new generation of climate change-aware citizens. It covers various responses to climate change including mitigation, adaptation, impact reduction and early warning.
6. Environmental sustainability	Education about responsible interactions with the environment to avoid depletion or degradation and to promote environmental quality and health. It includes, caring for the planet and protecting nature, environmental justice, biodiversity and water.
7. Human survival and well-being	Education that promotes social well-being and harmony including in future generations due to healthy environmental systems. It includes health of the planet and environment related to human well-being, disaster risk reduction and sustainable cities and communities.

8. Sustainable consumption and production	Education on the use and production of resources, products and services that have a minimal adverse impact on the environment. It promotes resource and energy efficiency, sustainable infrastructure and green jobs. It includes responsible and sustainable lifestyles, the green economy and sustainable energy.
Dimensions of learning
Knowledge	Factual information and understanding acquired through study and/or experience.
Skills	The ability to carry out a task well as a result of training, practice and innate aptitude. Skills may be physical, mental or both.
Values	Principles that form the foundation on which individuals conduct themselves and interact with others and with the environment around them.
Attitudes and behaviours	Ability to act on the basis of beliefs and knowledge acquired through study or experience.
Levels of education
Pre-primary	Education designed to support children's early cognitive, physical, social and emotional development and introduce young children to organized instruction outside of the family context. Participants are usually aged from three years.
Primary and secondary	Education designed to: (i) provide students with fundamental skills in reading, writing and mathematics (i.e. literacy and numeracy) and establish a solid foundation for learning and understanding core areas of knowledge and personal development (primary education); and (ii) prepare students for further education at post-secondary and tertiary levels and for entry into the labour market (secondary education). It includes both general and vocational education.
Tertiary	Education designed to provide learning activities in specialised fields of education. It aims at learning at a high level of complexity and specialisation. It includes both what is commonly understood as academic education and advanced vocational or professional education.
Types of education
Adult education	Education specifically targeted at individuals who are regarded as adults by their society to improve their technical or professional qualifications, further develop their abilities, enrich their knowledge with the purpose to complete a level of formal education, or to acquire, refresh or update their knowledge, skills and competencies in a particular field.
Formal education	Education that is institutionalized, intentional and planned through public organizations and recognized private bodies which – in their totality – constitute the formal education system of a country. Formal education programmes are recognized by the relevant national or sub-national education authorities. Formal education consists mostly of initial education (e.g., pre-primary, primary, secondary and tertiary education).
Non-formal education	Education that is an addition, alternative and/or a complement to formal education within the process of the lifelong learning of individuals. It is often provided to guarantee the right of access to education for all. It caters to people of all ages but does not necessarily apply a continuous pathway-structure. It may be short in duration and/or low-intensity, and it is typically provided in the form of short courses, workshops or seminars. Non-formal education mostly leads to qualifications that are not

	recognized by the relevant national or sub-national education authorities or to no qualifications at all. Non-formal education includes programmes on life skills including literacy and numeracy, work skills, and social or cultural development. Most types of adult education are also included.
Vocational education	Education that is designed for learners to acquire the knowledge, skills and competencies specific to a particular occupation or trade or class of occupations or trades. Vocational education may have work-based components (e.g. apprenticeships). Successful completion of such programmes leads to labour-market relevant vocational qualifications acknowledged as occupationally-oriented by the relevant national authorities and/or the labour market. Vocational education can be offered at secondary and post-secondary or tertiary levels of education.

VI. Questionnaire

A. Laws and policies (preamble and paras 4 and 7 of the 1974 Recommendation)

A1a. Please describe any specific national or sub-national laws, legislation or legal framework(s) in your country that govern the promotion of global citizenship education (GCED) and/or education for sustainable development (ESD). Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes² are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

The ministry of education's most prominent efforts in implementing the Fourth Sustainable Development Goals can be briefly referred to as follows:

- The formation of a national committee to follow up on the implementation of the fourth goal in the Sustainable Development Plan.

This committee aims to lead efforts, develop plans and implement initiatives related to the fourth goal.

In addition to supporting the competent authorities to implement the remaining goals of the sustainable development plan, there are members of the General Administration for Early Childhood to follow up on the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals.

Also, many programs from General Administration of Student Counselling such as Bullying Prevention Program, (Rifq) program which mean gentleness and Drug prevention program.

- National Center for Educational Professional Development :

The National Center provides short-term training programs for teachers and leaders that embody global citizenship and instil values such as embedding citizenship values in education, leadership by values, inculcating values, concepts and instilling values through Islamic studies courses.

A1b. Please provide the full names of any laws, legislation or legal frameworks referred to in A1a and, where possible, web links to relevant documents.

² See the schema described in paragraph 11 of Section II of these guidelines.

*A2 Please indicate which GCED and ESD themes are covered in national or sub-national laws, legislation or legal frameworks on education by entering the appropriate number in each white cell.

B. Curriculum (paras 4 and 10-19 of the 1974 Recommendation)

B1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are mainstreamed in school curricula. Indicate whether topics are taught as standalone subjects or are integrated into the curricula of other subjects. Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes⁴ are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

Foundations for developing the Public Education Curricula Standards:

- 1- Islam is the religion of the state and includes doctrine, legislation, culture, and ethics, as well as religious duties, acts of worship, and social interactions.
- 2- The Arabic language.
- 3- Loyalty to the state country and its leadership.
- 4- Kingdom's geography and history : The Kingdom's strategic geographic location, history, and archaeology represent important dimensions in building the people of the Kingdom and strengthening their sense of belonging to the state and its roots. The Kingdom's geography and history are considered a basis for building the curricula standards. Focus is placed in particular on the way these have combined to create a civilization rich with knowledge, monuments, traditions, and values, as well as Saudi social and cultural life, literature, and arts.
- 5- The Kingdom's Vision 2030
- 6- Characteristics of growth
- 7- Educational trends and practices.
- 8- Knowledge and technological transformations
- 9- Public health.
- 10- Human co-existence: The Kingdom places high importance on the principles of human co-existence and international security and peace, as these build positive global partnerships and serve humanity. It commits itself to international conventions and norms, and supports the principles of dialogue, peace, and understanding among followers of divine faiths and global cultures. These commitments are reflected in the curricula standards, which focus on developing human interactions based on collaborative relationships, consolidating cultural and civic communication, opening up Islamic civilization to other cultures, and accepting diversity and difference among people, in religion, thinking, behaviour, and their nature, as a part of God's universal ways.

General Administration for Early Childhood they have had:

Standards for early learning development for the age of 3 to 6 years for kindergarten 2015

Teacher's guide for self-learning curriculum 2016

⁴ See the schema described in paragraph 11 of Section II of these guidelines.

C. Teacher education (including the training of trainers and educators) (paras 4 and 33-37 of the 1974 Recommendation)

C1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are mainstreamed in initial training and in continuing professional development of teachers, trainers and educators. Indicate whether all teachers, trainers and educators or only some are required to receive training to teach GCED and/or ESD.

1-Khebrat: Professional development for Saudi teachers

(School Leadership Practitioner Program (Professional Development Awareness Program for School Leaders))

Khebrat family group of Saudi teachers can bring their families with them to experience life in many different countries . As education is regarded as a key driver of economic and human development, the Kingdom's Ministry of Education has been sending hundreds of teachers across the globe to experience other cultures and, in turn, refining their teaching and English language skills.

The hope is to create global-thinking citizens who can share their new teaching and learning experiences with their students once they return home.

2-Institute of Public Administration:

The Institute of Public Administration was founded by the instrument of Royal Decree no. 93 of 10.4.1961, as a body-corporate, autonomous government agency. The purpose of its establishment was to increase the efficiency of public employees and educate them, so as to make them capable of shouldering their responsibilities and use their jurisdiction in a manner that would raise the level of administration and support the foundation of national economic development.

E. Mainstreaming of GCED and ESD in laws and policies, curricula, teacher education and student assessment (paras 4-5, 7, 10-19 and 33-37 of the 1974 Recommendation)

*E1 Based on your responses to questions in the previous four sections (laws and policies, curricula, teacher education and student assessment) please indicate to what extent global citizenship education (GCED) and education for sustainable development (ESD) are mainstreamed⁵ in (a) education laws and policies, (b) curricula (c) teacher education (including the training of trainers and educators) and (d) student assessment in your country. Please enter the appropriate number in each white cell in the table below.

KEY:

0 Not at all

GCED and ESD are not mainstreamed.

1 Partially

Some GCED and/or ESD themes⁶ are mainstreamed. Select this option if GCED is mainstreamed but ESD is not (or vice versa).

2 Extensively

Most GCED and ESD themes are mainstreamed.

9 Not known

It is not known whether GCED and ESD are mainstreamed or not.

99 Not applicable

The given level of government does not have responsibility for the given component (policies, curricula, teacher education or student assessment) and/or does not have responsibility for the given level or type of education. This may occur at the national level in federal countries where education is the responsibility of individual states or at the sub-national level in small countries where there is only one level of government.

The Globe Environmental Program is one of the international scientific programs supported by the US National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). The program is implemented in different countries through the conclusion of bilateral agreements between the United States of America and those countries.

It is an international educational scientific program. It aims to train future generations of future scientists in the field of the environment through students undertaking a set of environmental measurements and registering them in the program's database and using them in conducting environmental scientific studies.

They also exchange experts around the world and also communicate with scientists to achieve an understanding of the Earth as an integrated system.

H2 Please indicate which types of activities are available that promote international co-operation at each level of education by entering the appropriate number in each white cell.
