

Combating discrimination in education

Tenth consultation of Member States on the application of the Convention and the Recommendation against Discrimination in Education (1960)

GUIDELINES FOR THE PREPARATION OF REPORTS BY MEMBER STATES ON THE APPLICATION OF THE 1960 CONVENTION AND RECOMMENDATION AGAINST DISCRIMINATION IN EDUCATION

Approved by the UNESCO Executive Board at its 207th session in October 2019

1. Introduction

The Convention against Discrimination in Education (“the Convention”) and the Recommendation against Discrimination in Education (“the Recommendation”), adopted by UNESCO’s General Conference in 1960, respond to UNESCO’s constitutional mandate to “advance the ideal of equality of educational opportunities without regard to race, sex or any distinctions, economic or social”. The Convention is the first legally binding international instrument providing for the right to education and the only one exclusively devoted to it.

The right to education is today one of the key principles underpinning the Education 2030 agenda and Sustainable Development Goal 4 (SDG4) adopted by the international community. SDG4 is rights-based and seeks to ensure the full enjoyment of the right to education as fundamental to achieving sustainable development. Its scope captures the multidimensional nature of the right to education.

The Convention has been recognized as a cornerstone of Education 2030 agenda. It also represents a powerful tool to advance SDG4 by ensuring effective articulation between normative and operational work.

The present Guidelines are intended to assist Member States in the preparation of national reports on the implementation of the Convention as well as the Recommendation in the context of the 10th Consultation.

2. Reporting obligations

There are differences in the legal nature of the obligations under the Convention, as distinguished from those under the Recommendation. The Convention has binding force and the States Parties are obliged to incorporate its provisions into their national Constitution or domestic law. The Recommendation, non-binding in nature, has political and moral force. Its adoption sought to take into account the difficulties that certain states might experience, in particular on account of their federal structure, in ratifying the Convention.

Bearing in mind the differences in wording and in legal scope inherent to the nature of these two categories of instruments, the content of the Recommendation is identical to that of the Convention. Member States are expected to give effect to it in national legislation and education policies.

Most importantly, the reporting obligation under the provisions of Article VII of the Convention and of the Recommendation is the same. Article VIII of UNESCO’s Constitution states that “Each Member State shall submit to the Organization, at such times and in such manner as shall be determined by the General Conference, reports on the laws, regulations and statistics relating to its educational, scientific and cultural institutions and activities, and on the action taken upon the recommendations and conventions referred to in Article IV, paragraph 4”. Therefore, even if a country is not a State Party to the Convention, it needs to submit a report on the implementation of the Recommendation, which means that all UNESCO Member States are expected to submit a national report on the implementation of these instruments in the context of monitoring consultations.

3. Participation in consultations

In light of the Education 2030 agenda, the monitoring of the implementation of the Convention and the Recommendation is of crucial importance in order to ensure an education that is truly for all and to counter persistent inequalities in access, participation and learning outcomes at all levels, particularly for the most vulnerable groups. Concrete measures taken by Member States in accordance with their legal obligations under these instruments contribute to this process.

As the scope and content of the legal obligations under the right to education are aligned with the 10 targets of SDG4 on education, efforts have also been made to ensure that the specific components are included in the guidelines and that the guidelines serve as a valuable monitoring tool for measuring progress towards SDG4 targets.¹ In addition, in view of the educational challenges posed by the influxes of refugees and displacements worldwide, the guidelines provide the opportunity to report on concrete measures taken during the reporting period to include refugees and migrants in their educational systems. An emphasis is also to be placed on legal and policy framework that protects the rights of national minorities.

The reporting should be as comprehensive as possible and the process needs to be participatory and conducted in cooperation between ministries of education and other ministries dealing with aspects of the right to education. Relevant information from CSOs having education as their main field of activity should also be provided.

The preparation of national reports provides a good opportunity for Member States to assess the implementation of the right to education in their country, identify specific challenges, build constructive dialogue with other actors involved in this field and share good practices.

4. General indications

The reporting period for the 10th Consultation on the implementation of the Convention and the Recommendation covers four years (2017-2020).

Member States that already reported to the 9th Consultation (2016-2017) are invited to refer to their reports when appropriate. Relevant information supplied for other reporting instances may be reproduced or referred to with precise indication as to its retrieval. Similarly, hyperlinks to any useful documents or relevant legal and policy texts are most welcome and texts can also be added in the annex.

In the preparation of reports, Member States are kindly requested to provide brief and concise information, although they may provide details on the scope of the question if deemed necessary. In addition to a description of the constitutional, legislative, administrative and policy framework established for the implementation of the provisions guaranteed by the instruments, the information supplied by Member States should demonstrate how legal norms and practices comply with the Convention and the Recommendation.

5. Modalities

With a view to simplify the Guidelines while providing necessary substantive information to assist Member States in the preparation of responses, two series of questions/remarks are presented:

¹ Please note that the 1974 Recommendation concerning Education for International Understanding, Co-operation and Peace and Education relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms is used specifically for monitoring SDG target 4.7. The 1960 Convention and Recommendation contribute more generally to the body of evidence for monitoring the targets of SDG4.

- (1) Open-ended and closed-ended questions to be directly filled in by Member States through a participatory process. Please note that multiple answers may be provided where relevant.
- (2) Additional information aimed at guiding Members States to structure and detail their responses to the open-ended questions (including remarks on how to respond efficiently to the questions raised). These elements are presented in italics.

In their responses, Member States are encouraged to provide information in a concise manner while preserving substantive and relevant content.

Gender equality has become an essential issue for education. In each education institution there is a coordinator responsible for gender issues. There is a national plan on gender issues. There are guidelines to fight bullying linked with gender discrimination. In cooperation with WB we are preparing a program which will take into consideration the support for young mothers but not only for all mothers that need support for their children while they are working.

There are many bylaws that motivate and financially support economically disadvantaged groups. While the inclusion of STEM problems in the new Strategy will solve gender problems in these areas.

- Please indicate whether your country has adopted and reviewed legislation related to the minimum age for marriage so that it conforms to international standards (18 years):

Please note that child marriage is a discriminatory practice as often girls can marry at a younger age than boys. Child marriage violates the child's right to education as they are more likely to drop out of school and children who are not in school are more likely to get married.

2. Progress made with respect to implementing the right to education in the context of SDG 4

2.1 Pre-primary education

Pre-primary education is not explicitly provided for in the Convention/Recommendation. However, the international community has increasingly recognized the importance of early childhood care and education (ECCE) over the years. The Committee on the Rights of the Child initially recognized "the right to education during early childhood as beginning at birth"

⁷ Administrative barriers to education include, amongst others, lack of identity papers or birth certificates required to enrol.

(General Comment 7). This became more explicit with the 2010 Moscow Framework for Action and Cooperation⁸. In the current context of the Education 2030 agenda, under SDG target 4.2, states have now committed to “the provision of at least one year of free and compulsory pre-primary education”.

- Is compulsory and free of charge pre-primary education available in your country?

☐ Pre-primary education is compulsory: Please provide the age of enrolment and duration:

No

☐ Pre-primary education is free of charge for all: Please provide the duration:

2.2 Universal primary and secondary education

Article/Paragraph 4(a) of the Convention/Recommendation provides for universal primary and secondary education. In the context of the Education 2030 agenda, SDG target 4.1 calls on States to provide “12 years of free, publicly funded, inclusive, equitable, quality primary and secondary education – of which at least nine years are compulsory.”

Primary education

- Is primary education compulsory in your country?

☒ Yes ☐ No

Please indicate the current duration period of compulsory education and the age of enrolment:

In this part, you may also provide information on the difficulties experienced by your government in the realization of universal access to primary education. Quantitative information could be added.

The compulsory education lasts from grade 1 till grade 9, 9 years. It starts at age 6.

The government has taken facilitative measures for the compulsory education of all children, for their integration and inclusion in education. Some of the mitigation measures are DCMs for:

- provision of free textbooks for 16 categories of children, including those with disabilities, Roma, Egyptians, martyrs, orphans, national minorities, etc. from grade 1 to grade 12.
- Providing textbooks for free use to all students in grades 1-7.

- Is primary education available free of charge to all?

☒ Yes: Please provide the duration and indicate the extent to which it is.

Vocational secondary education is part of the area of responsibility of the Ministry of Finance and Economy. This based on decision no. 503, dated 13.9.2017 on "DETERMINATION OF THE AREA OF STATE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE AND ECONOMY".

Based on Law no. 15/2017 on "VOCATIONAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING IN THE REPUBLIC OF ALBANIA", the Ministry of Education, Sports and Youth, has the following competencies:

a) approves general culture programs based on key competencies for lifelong learning;

b) organizes the testing and certification of the respective subjects of the State Professional Matura, through specialized institutions;

c) organizes continuous professional training for general culture teachers who are engaged in VET;

ç) determines the general criteria for the qualification of teachers of general education subjects in VET

- Indicate whether your country has adopted and reviewed legislation related to the minimum age of entry into employment so that it is aligned with the end of compulsory education:

Please note that minimum age labour laws and those related to compulsory education interdependent and mutually reinforce each other. If the minimum age of employment is below that of compulsory education, the child is at risk of dropping out of school to work and therefore not completing compulsory education. On the other hand, if compulsory education is lower than the minimum age of employment, once the child has completed compulsory education, the door is open to child exploitation and the violation of labour laws.

¹⁰ Which recommends to "substantially increase the number of youth and adults who have relevant skills, including technical and vocational skills, for employment, decent jobs and entrepreneurship".

¹¹ See: Article/Paragraph 1(1).

The procedure which ensures equal right for admission and enrolment in higher education and also supports the principle of nondiscrimination starts with HEIs accession of the information through a centralized portal from which the students can download information about any study program offered by them such as:

HEIs, including those conducting competitions / tests, display and publish lists of applicants, using only their Matura ID as an identifying element, in order to comply with the provisions of the legal framework for the protection of personal data.

All above mentioned steps ensure that the process is driven only by the principles of merits and preference, avoiding so discrimination on any basis.

The Centre for Educational Services (CES), besides other competences, has some specific ones that help implementing the principle on non-discrimination. It is one of the most important mechanisms as regards the enrolment process in higher education because it:

- a) coordinates the application process in higher education institutions for pursuing studies in first cycle, integrated and professional programs;
- b) creates and administers the national student register of all cycles of study and a database for institutions of higher education, related to study programs, diplomas or certificates they issue;

Article 4 of the Convention requires states to make “higher education equally accessible to all on the basis of individual capacity”. 2.10 Rights of refugees and migrants

The rights of refugees and migrants are not explicitly provided for in the Convention/Recommendation. However, the Convention and Recommendation call on states to eliminate and prevent discrimination in education based notably on national origin.¹⁴ In this context, a number of Member States that participated in the 9th Consultation reported on measures adopted to ensure refugees' and migrants' right to education. Growing displacement and influx of refugees worldwide and the emergence of major educational challenges in this area, as well as the frameworks recently adopted by the international community,¹⁵ demonstrate the opportunity for states to report on measures adopted to include refugees and migrants in their educational systems.

Besides, this aspect also corresponds to SDG target 4.5, which calls on states to “ensure equal access to all levels of education and vocational training for the vulnerable”, including “children in vulnerable situations”, and covers the majority of SDG4 targets.
