

GUIDELINES FOR THE PREPARATION OF REPORTS BY MEMBER STATES ON THE APPLICATION OF THE 1974 RECOMMENDATION CONCERNING EDUCATION FOR INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING, CO-OPERATION AND PEACE AND EDUCATION RELATING TO HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS

I. Introduction

A. About the 1974 Recommendation

1. UNESCO's 1974 Recommendation concerning Education for International Understanding, Co-operation and Peace and Education relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms<sup>1</sup> (the "1974 Recommendation") aims to promote international education and world peace through understanding, solidarity and cooperation. It was adopted on 19 November 1974 by the General Conference of UNESCO at its 18th session.

2. The 1974 Recommendation applies to formal, non-formal and informal education and to all levels, from pre-primary to tertiary and adult education and lifelong learning. The General Conference recommended "that Member States should apply" the provisions included in the 1974 Recommendation "by taking whatever legislative or other steps" that provide institutional (e.g. policies and legal frameworks) and pedagogical (e.g. curricula, teacher training, educational materials, equipment, and student assessment) support for its implementation, based on the "objectives", referred to in paragraph 4 of the 1974 Recommendation, "regarded as major guiding principles of education policy" including: an international dimension and a global perspective on education, cultural diversity, interdependence, communication, rights and responsibilities, international solidarity and cooperation, and problem solving.

3. Today, the principles of the 1974 Recommendation apply equally well to Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) and to Global Citizenship Education (GCED) and therefore represent a powerful tool for promoting the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and in particular SDG Target 4.7 on the promotion of sustainable development and global citizenship through education, Target 12.8 on access to information on sustainable development and Target 13.3 on climate change education.

4. The General Conference in its 39th session recommended the use of the 1974 Recommendation reporting process to support the implementation and monitoring of Target 4.7 of Sustainable Development Goal 4 (39 C/Resolution 79). The UNESCO Executive Board at its 209th session approved the use of the current guidelines for both the monitoring of the 1974 Recommendation and the collection of data needed for the following global SDG indicator for which UNESCO is custodian (209 EX/Decision 18.II):

4.7.1, 12.8.1 and 13.3.1: The extent to which (i) global citizenship education and (ii) education for sustainable development are mainstreamed in (a) national education policies; (b) curricula; (c) teacher education and (d) student assessment.

5. Questions marked with an asterisk (*) will be used in the calculation of the respective indicators (Table 1). As approved by the Inter-Agency and Expert Group on the SDG Indicators, the indicators will be calculated for primary and secondary education only.

B. Reporting obligations

6. The General Conference, at its 18th session, when adopting the 1974 Recommendation recommended “that Member States submit [...] reports concerning the action taken by them in pursuance of this recommendation”. Moreover, in accordance with Article VIII of UNESCO’s Constitution “Each Member State shall submit to the Organization [...] reports [...] on the action taken upon the recommendations and conventions referred to in Article IV, paragraph 4.”

7. Thus, all UNESCO Member States are expected to report on the steps they have taken to implement the 1974 Recommendation preferably by completing the following questionnaire. Such reporting takes place every four years.

II. Guidelines for completion of the questionnaire

8. This questionnaire and its accompanying guidelines are addressed to Ministers responsible for relations with UNESCO. The questionnaire is typically completed by Ministries of Education and other government authorities responsible for education. Responses should cover, as far as possible, education at all levels of government, including sub-national levels where applicable as well as education outside the government sector.

9. National respondents are encouraged to consult widely both within, across and beyond government, including with Ministries of Environment, with national human rights institutions, the education sector, civil society partners and others, as necessary, to gather the information needed to complete the questionnaire.

10. Responses to the seventh consultation should cover:

- (i) the time period 2017-2020;
- (ii) education at all levels of formal education from pre-primary to tertiary education as well as non-formal education;
- (iii) all levels of government that have responsibility for education within the country; and
- (iv) where possible, education outside the government sector.

11. To assist countries in responding to this questionnaire, UNESCO has developed the following set of global citizenship education and education for sustainable development themes. The list is based on a review of current common practices in many countries as well as a review of relevant literature. While the terms ESD and GCED may be used differently in some countries, the list of themes typically captures what are seen as key elements of Target 4.7. Please refer to the definitions of key terms in Section III before completing the questionnaire.

| 1. Cultural diversity and tolerance                                           | Education about and for diversity including language, ethnicity, race, religion as well as the development of tolerance, mutual respect and appreciation for cultural diversity. It includes intercultural and interreligious dialogue, understanding, solidarity and co-operation, and citizenship education.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| 2. Gender equality education                                                  | Education that addresses the wider issue of gender equality by promoting new attitudes and patterns of belief, transforming the way people think about traditional gender roles and helping to build long-term sustainable change. It examines how gender roles, activities, needs, opportunities, rights and entitlements affect men, women, girls and boys differently. It deals with the relationships between females and males, their access to and control of resources and the constraints they face relative to each other. It respects the rights of all learners – women, men, boys and girls – equally and gives equal access to learning opportunities, resources and protections. All learners benefit from and are treated in education equally without the limitations set by stereotypes, rigid gender roles and prejudices. It covers gender-based equal opportunities, gender equality and justice, and gender roles, identity and stereotypes. |
| 3. Human rights education                                                     | Education that promotes universal respect for and observance of all human rights and fundamental freedoms and thus contributes, inter alia, to the prevention of human rights violations and abuses by providing persons with knowledge, skills and understanding and developing their attitudes and behaviours, to empower them to contribute to the building and promotion of a universal culture of human rights.It includes equality and non-discrimination, human rights values, dignity, justice, inclusion and participation and respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| 4. Peace and non-violence                                                     | Education about peace and peace-building, mediation, conflict prevention and resolution, non-violence, reconciliation and living together peacefully. It includes advocating for friendly relations among peoples and nations, challenging negative stereotypes, promoting peaceful solutions, learning to live together and preventing violent extremism and other forms of violence including bullying.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| 5. Climate change education                                                   | Education to help people, in particular youth, understand, address, mitigate, and adapt to the impacts of climate change. It encourages changes in attitudes and behaviours needed to put the world on a more sustainable development path, and build a new generation of climate change-aware citizens.It covers various responses to climate change including mitigation, adaptation, impact reduction and early warning.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| 6. Environmental sustainability                                               | Education about responsible interactions with the environment to avoid depletion or degradation and to promote environmental quality and health. It includes, caring for the planet and protecting nature, environmental justice, biodiversity and water.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

VI. Questionnaire

A. Laws and policies (preamble and paras 4 and 7 of the 1974 Recommendation)

A1a. Please describe any specific national or sub-national laws, legislation or legal framework(s) in your country that govern the promotion of global citizenship education (GCED) and/or education for sustainable development (ESD). Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes<sup>2</sup> are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

The topic of ESD is indirectly referred to in Articles 5 and 45 of the Law of Ukraine "On Education". Article 5: Education is a state priority that ensures innovative, socio-economic and cultural development of society. Financing of education is an investment in human potential, sustainable development of society and the state. For the effective operation of educational institutions and sustainable development, Article 45 of the Law of Ukraine "On Education" provides for an institutional audit.

The development of education on ESD and GCED topics requires a comprehensive approach. Thus, the Decree of the President of Ukraine "On the National Strategy for the Development of Education in Ukraine until 2021" identifies the following main tasks: strengthening language, informational, environmental, economic, legal training of pupils and students; building an effective system of national education on the basis of universal, multicultural, civic values, ensuring physical, moral and spiritual, cultural development of the child, the formation of socially mature creative personality, citizen of Ukraine and the world, preparing young people for conscious choice of sphere of life. According to the decree, the modernization of the content of education also requires the training of specialists for sustainable development with new environmental thinking; and ensuring national education, development and socialization of children and youth requires creation of television educational programs on science and technology, ecology and naturalism, aesthetics, tourism and local lore, as well as other areas of out-of-school education.

A1b. Please provide the full names of any laws, legislation or legal frameworks referred to in A1a and, where possible, web links to relevant documents.

A3a. Please describe any specific current national or sub-national education policies, frameworks or strategic objectives in your country that promote global citizenship education (GCED) and/or education for sustainable development (ESD). Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes<sup>3</sup> are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

The Law of Ukraine "On Preschool Education" defines preschool education as a holistic process aimed at ensuring the comprehensive development of preschool children in accordance with their cultural needs.

Article 36, paragraph 2 of this Law states that parents or persons replacing them are obliged to instill in children love for Ukraine, respect for national, historical and cultural values of the Ukrainian people, and care for the environment.

Article 54, paragraph 2 of the Law obliges pedagogical, scientific-pedagogical and scientific staff to form in pupils the desire for mutual understanding, peace, harmony between all peoples, ethnic, national and religious groups.

According to Article 55, paragraph 3 of this Law, parents of pupils are also obliged to form in the child a culture of dialogue, a culture of living in mutual understanding, peace and harmony between all peoples.

Article 3, paragraph 2, of the Declaration of the Principles on Tolerance, to which Ukraine is a party, states that in schools and universities, in the context of non-formal education, at home and at work, the spirit of tolerance must be strengthened and relations of openness, attention to each other and solidarity.

Article 12 of the Law of Ukraine "On Ensuring Equal Rights and Opportunities for Women and Men" states that executive bodies and local self-government bodies within their competence conduct educational activities on gender equality, prevention and counteraction to violence on the basis of gender.

According to Article 3 of this Law, state policy to ensure equal rights and opportunities for women and men is aimed at educating and promoting among the population of Ukraine a culture of gender equality, the spread of educational activities in this area.

Ukraine is obliged to promote the value of peace, mutual understanding and dialogue in the process of educating children in the framework of the World Declaration on the Survival, Protection and Development of Children (Commitment, paragraph 8). Commitment Paragraph 6 obliges Ukraine to pursue programs that reduce illiteracy and enable all children to receive education, regardless of their background or gender; which will prepare children for work and provide opportunities for lifelong learning, for example, through vocational training; and which will enable children to reach the age of maturity with support and in a favorable cultural and social environment.

According to Article 4, paragraph 1, of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change, Ukraine and other parties are obliged to promote and cooperate in the field of education, training and public education on climate change and to support the widest possible participation in this process, including non-governmental organizations.

In fulfilling its obligations under Article 4, Ukraine shall, at the national and, where appropriate, subregional and regional levels, and in accordance with national laws and regulations and its respective capabilities, support and facilitate:

- i) development and implementation of educational and informational programs for the public on the issue of climate change and its consequences;
- (ii) public access to information on climate change and its consequences.

Law of Ukraine "On the Basic Principles (Strategy) of the State Environmental Policy of Ukraine until 2030": Ukraine has developed a national system of sustainable development goals, which should provide a basis for achieving a high level of education and public health.

B. Curriculum (paras 4 and 10-19 of the 1974 Recommendation)

B1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are mainstreamed in school curricula. Indicate whether topics are taught as standalone subjects or are integrated into the curricula of other subjects. Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes<sup>4</sup> are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

Education on human rights, peace and non-violence is usually included within a separate subject of legal education. Topics such as cultural diversity and tolerance, gender equality, climate change, environmental sustainability, survival and well-being of humans, sustainable consumption and production are integrated into the curricula of other subjects, such as geography, history and economics. These topics are clearly mentioned in the curricula; they are also reflected in the list of competencies that are identified as mandatory learning outcomes in the State Standards for preschool, primary and basic secondary education.

B1b. Please provide examples of curricula in which GCED and/or ESD are mainstreamed and, where possible, web links to relevant documents.

The educational program "Child", designed for children aged 2 to 7 years, sets the following educational objectives: In the social sphere of development: to form elementary concepts about relationships between people, to cultivate a culture of behavior and communication; to form friendly relations between children; to form moral and ethical ideas; to form an attitude of appreciation for the homeland, labor, natural and man-made world.

In the field of development "Child in the natural environment": to develop a holistic perception of nature in a harmonious combination of cognitive, ethical, aesthetic, practical motives of interaction with it; to teach basic actions to improve the natural environment (cleaning the area, caring for plants, helping animals); to enrich the idea of the dependence of nature on human activity and their attitude to it; to form environmentally sound behavior.

Educational programs for students in grades 5-9 provide cross-cutting content lines, which are socially significant cross-curricular topics that help students form ideas about society as a whole, develop the ability to apply the acquired knowledge in different situations. 4 cross-cutting lines are distinguished: "Environmental safety and sustainable development" forms in students values and behavior of social activity, responsibility and environmental awareness, as a result of which they will treat the environment with care and responsibility, realizing the importance of sustainable development for the environment and society.

"Civic responsibility" is mastered through collective activity, which develops students' willingness to cooperate, their tolerance for different ways of working and thinking. Students must competently assess the concepts of equality and diversity of peoples, the phenomena of discrimination and gender inequality in society.

"Health and safety" aims to form a student as an emotionally stable member of society, able to lead a healthy lifestyle and create a safe living environment around him.

"Entrepreneurship and financial literacy" instills in the young generation of Ukrainians a better understanding of practical aspects of financial issues and promotes the development of leadership initiatives, the ability to operate successfully in a rapidly changing technological environment.

C. Teacher education (including the training of trainers and educators) (paras 4 and 33-37 of the 1974 Recommendation)

C1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are mainstreamed in initial training and in continuing professional development of teachers, trainers and educators. Indicate whether all teachers, trainers and educators or only some are required to receive training to teach GCED and/or ESD.

Certain areas of GCED and/or ESD are included in the competence requirements for educators, defined by state educational standards, as well as state professional standards. These provide not only for the acquisition of knowledge and skills, the formation of values and attitudes among educators during their initial training, but also their further ability to provide relevant knowledge and skills, to cultivate appropriate values and attitudes among pupils. These requirements are set for employees of preschool education, primary education, secondary education, special education, vocational and higher education.

C1b. Please provide examples of teacher training policies or curricula in which GCED and/or ESD are mainstreamed and, where possible, web links to relevant documents. If possible, include examples related to initial training and to continuing professional development.

The standards of higher education of Ukraine in the specialties of Preschool education (bachelor), Vocational education (by specialties) (bachelor and master), Special education (bachelor) describe the requirements for the competencies of the relevant educators upon the initial training.

Such competencies include: Awareness of the need for sustainable development of society and human rights and freedoms; Ability to interact with people, the ability to work with the community - at the local, regional, national, European and wider global levels; Appreciation and respect for diversity and multiculturalism; Awareness of equal opportunities and gender issues; Ability to ensure the formation of values of citizenship and democracy in pupils.

Additionally, among the required competencies for preschool education staff are: Ability to form in children of early and preschool age primary ideas about the natural and social environment; Ability to form in children of early and preschool age skills of ecologically safe behavior and activity in everyday life, the nature and environment; Ability to instill in children of early and preschool age a tolerant attitude and respect for others, prevention and counteraction to bullying.

A draft State Professional Standard for the professions "teacher of primary school" and "teacher of secondary school" has been developed, which also lists the requirements for teachers' competencies, taking into account GCED and ESD topics.

D. Student assessment (paras 4 and 5 of the 1974 Recommendation)

D1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are covered in student assessments and examinations. Indicate whether students are assessed only on their knowledge of and skills related to the topics being tested or also on their values, attitudes and/or behaviours.

Requirements for mandatory learning outcomes are defined on the basis of a competency-based approach that includes knowledge, skills, abilities, ways of thinking, attitudes, values, and other personal qualities.

State standards for preschool, primary and basic secondary education distinguish competencies such as innovation, environmental, civic and social competences as compulsory learning outcomes. These competencies include GCED and ESD topics, in particular, human rights, equality of rights and opportunities, non-discrimination, cooperation, respect for cultural diversity, sustainable development of society, the need to protect nature and conserve natural resources, understanding the context and relationship of human activity and nature.

*D2 Please indicate whether the GCED and ESD themes below are generally included in student assessments or examinations at each level of education by entering the appropriate number in each white cell.

E. Mainstreaming of GCED and ESD in laws and policies, curricula, teacher education and student assessment (paras 4-5, 7, 10-19 and 33-37 of the 1974 Recommendation)

*E1 Based on your responses to questions in the previous four sections (laws and policies, curricula, teacher education and student assessment) please indicate to what extent global citizenship education (GCED) and education for sustainable development (ESD) are mainstreamed<sup>5</sup> in (a) education laws and policies, (b) curricula (c) teacher education (including the training of trainers and educators) and (d) student assessment in your country. Please enter the appropriate number in each white cell in the table below.

KEY:

0 Not at all

GCED and ESD are not mainstreamed.

1 Partially

Some GCED and/or ESD themes<sup>6</sup> are mainstreamed. Select this option if GCED is mainstreamed but ESD is not (or vice versa).

2 Extensively

Most GCED and ESD themes are mainstreamed.

9 Not known

It is not known whether GCED and ESD are mainstreamed or not.

99 Not applicable

The given level of government does not have responsibility for the given component (policies, curricula, teacher education or student assessment) and/or does not have responsibility for the given level or type of education. This may occur at the national level in federal countries where education is the responsibility of individual states or at the sub-national level in small countries where there is only one level of government.

<sup>5</sup> GCED and ESD are mainstreamed if their themes are mentioned explicitly in relevant documents and are expected to be implemented by the relevant authorities (e.g. Ministries, regional or local education authorities), educational institutions (e.g. schools, colleges and universities) and/or education professionals (e.g. teachers, lecturers, trainers and educators) as appropriate.

F. Technical and vocational education and training (paras 25-29 of the 1974 Recommendation)

- F1 Please describe any major initiatives that have been undertaken to promote GCED and/or ESD in technical and vocational education and training. Describe briefly the outcomes and impact of such initiatives and provide examples of good practices.

In 2019, the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine approved the Concept for the implementation of state policy in the field of vocational education and training "Modern vocational education and training" until 2027, which provides for the reform of VET. The implementation of the Concept will promote, among other things, the sustainable development of the national economy and society, as well as the professional self-realization of the individual and the implementation of the principle of lifelong learning, taking into account principles of gender equality and inclusive education.

G. Adult education (para 30 of the 1974 Recommendation)

- G1 Please describe any major initiatives that have been undertaken to promote GCED and/or ESD in adult education and other forms of non-formal education including youth education, out-of-school education, etc. Describe briefly the outcomes and impact of such initiatives and provide examples of good practices.

A draft Law of Ukraine "On Adult Education" was developed, which defines the following among the priority areas of adult education: health and environmental competencies; social competencies; civic competencies; understanding and perception of universal values, the capacity for tolerant behavior in a multicultural world.

On the online platforms EdEra and Prometheus such training courses are available as: "Human rights in the educational environment" "Transparent energy" "European Mechanism for the Protection of Human Rights" "Non-discriminatory approach to learning" "Everything you need to know to ensure the rights of adolescents in Ukraine" "Countering and preventing bullying (harassment) in education institutions" "Culture of Tolerance: How to Build a Society Comfortable for All" "I know gender" "How to proceed: For business on sustainable development" "What to do next: For civil servants on sustainable development" "Protection of the rights of people with disabilities" "Household waste - act now!" "Food safety: modern legislation, honest producer, responsible consumer" "Women and men: gender for all"

H. Research and International Co-operation (paras 41-45 of the 1974 Recommendation)

- H1 Please describe what kinds of research or experimentation have been carried out to improve the implementation of GCED and/or ESD. Describe briefly how the results of such activities have influenced education policies, curricula and/or teaching practices.

September 15, 2017 - The Government of Ukraine presented the National Report "Sustainable Development Goals: Ukraine", which defined the basic indicators for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The report presented the results of adaptation of 17 global CSRs taking into account the specifics of national development, discussed during central and local consultations.

In 2017, the national baseline report "Ukraine's Development Challenges: from the MDGs to the SDGs (2000–2015)" was presented.

In 2019, The “Sustainable Development Goals for the Children of Ukraine” national report that provides a vision of benchmarks for the development of children and youth in the context of Ukraine’s efforts to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) was published. The report provides 31 strategic targets opening valuable opportunities to take action and to strengthen efforts for the advancement of the rights of the child.

In 2020, the Ministry of Economy prepared a Voluntary National Review of Ukraine's progress in achieving the Sustainable Development Goals. Representatives of central executive bodies, UN agencies in Ukraine, the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine, research institutes, youth, public organizations (primarily those representing the interests of the most vulnerable groups) and business, including members of the network of the UN Global Compact in Ukraine, were involved in the preparation of the Voluntary National Review. Achieving the SDGs is included to the national education policy of Ukraine.

I. Any other comments

- 11 Please indicate whether your country has faced any constraints, in particular related to global or national crises, including natural disasters, in implementing the 1974 Recommendation during the reporting period.

In early 2020, Ukraine, along with the rest of the world, faced a global crisis due to the spread of COVID-19. The conditions of combating the spread of the virus have certainly limited the processes of adaptation and implementation of sustainable development goals in Ukraine, and further emphasized the need for these processes. At the same time, quarantine conditions contribute to the creation of a large number of available educational resources, including those on GCED and/or ESD topics.

- 12 Please provide any other relevant information or clarifications regarding the implementation of the 1974 Recommendation or the mainstreaming of GCED and ESD in your country's education system.
