

GUIDELINES FOR THE PREPARATION OF REPORTS BY MEMBER STATES ON THE APPLICATION OF THE 1974 RECOMMENDATION CONCERNING EDUCATION FOR INTERNATIONAL UNDERSTANDING, CO-OPERATION AND PEACE AND EDUCATION RELATING TO HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS

I. Introduction

A. About the 1974 Recommendation

1. UNESCO's *1974 Recommendation concerning Education for International Understanding, Co-operation and Peace and Education relating to Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms*¹ (the "1974 Recommendation") aims to promote international education and world peace through understanding, solidarity and cooperation. It was adopted on 19 November 1974 by the General Conference of UNESCO at its 18th session.

2. The 1974 Recommendation applies to formal, non-formal and informal education and to all levels, from pre-primary to tertiary and adult education and lifelong learning. The General Conference recommended "that Member States should apply" the provisions included in the 1974 Recommendation "by taking whatever legislative or other steps" that provide institutional (e.g. policies and legal frameworks) and pedagogical (e.g. curricula, teacher training, educational materials, equipment, and student assessment) support for its implementation, based on the "objectives", referred to in paragraph 4 of the 1974 Recommendation, "regarded as major guiding principles of education policy" including: an international dimension and a global perspective on education, cultural diversity, interdependence, communication, rights and responsibilities, international solidarity and cooperation, and problem solving.

3. Today, the principles of the 1974 Recommendation apply equally well to Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) and to Global Citizenship Education (GCED) and therefore represent a powerful tool for promoting the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and in particular SDG Target 4.7 on the promotion of sustainable development and global citizenship through education, Target 12.8 on access to information on sustainable development and Target 13.3 on climate change education.

4. The General Conference in its 39th session recommended the use of the 1974 Recommendation reporting process to support the implementation and monitoring of Target 4.7 of Sustainable Development Goal 4 (39 C/Resolution 79). The UNESCO Executive Board at its 209th session approved the use of the current guidelines for both the monitoring of the 1974 Recommendation and the collection of data needed for the following global SDG indicator for which UNESCO is custodian (209 EX/Decision 18.II):

4.7.1, 12.8.1 and 13.3.1: The extent to which (i) global citizenship education and (ii) education for sustainable development are mainstreamed in (a) national education policies; (b) curricula; (c) teacher education and (d) student assessment.

5. Questions marked with an asterisk (*) will be used in the calculation of the respective indicators (Table 1). As approved by the Inter-Agency and Expert Group on the SDG Indicators, the indicators will be calculated for primary and secondary education only.

B. Reporting obligations

6. The General Conference, at its 18th session, when adopting the 1974 Recommendation recommended “that Member States submit [...] reports concerning the action taken by them in pursuance of this recommendation”. Moreover, in accordance with Article VIII of UNESCO’s Constitution “Each Member State shall submit to the Organization [...] reports [...] on the action taken upon the recommendations and conventions referred to in Article IV, paragraph 4.”

7. Thus, all UNESCO Member States are expected to report on the steps they have taken to implement the 1974 Recommendation preferably by completing the following questionnaire. Such reporting takes place every four years.

II. Guidelines for completion of the questionnaire

8. This questionnaire and its accompanying guidelines are addressed to Ministers responsible for relations with UNESCO. The questionnaire is typically completed by Ministries of Education and other government authorities responsible for education. Responses should cover, as far as possible, education at all levels of government, including sub-national levels where applicable as well as education outside the government sector.

9. National respondents are encouraged to consult widely both within, across and beyond government, including with Ministries of Environment, with national human rights institutions, the education sector, civil society partners and others, as necessary, to gather the information needed to complete the questionnaire.

10. Responses to the seventh consultation should cover:

- (i) the time period 2017-2020;
- (ii) education at all levels of formal education from pre-primary to tertiary education as well as non-formal education;
- (iii) all levels of government that have responsibility for education within the country; and
- (iv) where possible, education outside the government sector.

11. To assist countries in responding to this questionnaire, UNESCO has developed the following set of global citizenship education and education for sustainable development themes. The list is based on a review of current common practices in many countries as well as a review of relevant literature. While the terms ESD and GCED may be used differently in some countries, the list of themes typically captures what are seen as key elements of Target 4.7. Please refer to the definitions of key terms in Section III before completing the questionnaire.

Global citizenship education and education for sustainable development

- 1. cultural diversity and tolerance
 - 1.1 international or intercultural understanding, solidarity and cooperation

III. Definitions of key terms

Term	Definition
Themes of global citizenship and education for sustainable development
1. Cultural diversity and tolerance	Education about and for diversity including language, ethnicity, race, religion as well as the development of tolerance, mutual respect and appreciation for cultural diversity. It includes intercultural and interreligious dialogue, understanding, solidarity and co-operation, and citizenship education.
2. Gender equality education	Education that addresses the wider issue of gender equality by promoting new attitudes and patterns of belief, transforming the way people think about traditional gender roles and helping to build long-term sustainable change. It examines how gender roles, activities, needs, opportunities, rights and entitlements affect men, women, girls and boys differently. It deals with the relationships between females and males, their access to and control of resources and the constraints they face relative to each other. It respects the rights of all learners – women, men, boys and girls – equally and gives equal access to learning opportunities, resources and protections. All learners benefit from and are treated in education equally without the limitations set by stereotypes, rigid gender roles and prejudices. It covers gender-based equal opportunities, gender equality and justice, and gender roles, identity and stereotypes.
3. Human rights education	Education that promotes universal respect for and observance of all human rights and fundamental freedoms and thus contributes, inter alia, to the prevention of human rights violations and abuses by providing persons with knowledge, skills and understanding and developing their attitudes and behaviours, to empower them to contribute to the building and promotion of a universal culture of human rights. It includes equality and non-discrimination, human rights values, dignity, justice, inclusion and participation and respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms.
4. Peace and non-violence	Education about peace and peace-building, mediation, conflict prevention and resolution, non-violence, reconciliation and living together peacefully. It includes advocating for friendly relations among peoples and nations, challenging negative stereotypes, promoting peaceful solutions, learning to live together and preventing violent extremism and other forms of violence including bullying.
5. Climate change education	Education to help people, in particular youth, understand, address, mitigate, and adapt to the impacts of climate change. It encourages changes in attitudes and behaviours needed to put the world on a more sustainable development path, and build a new generation of climate change-aware citizens. It covers various responses to climate change including mitigation, adaptation, impact reduction and early warning.
6. Environmental sustainability	Education about responsible interactions with the environment to avoid depletion or degradation and to promote environmental quality and health. It includes, caring for the planet and protecting nature, environmental justice, biodiversity and water.
7. Human survival and well-being	Education that promotes social well-being and harmony including in future generations due to healthy environmental systems. It includes health of the planet and environment related to human well-being, disaster risk reduction and sustainable cities and communities.

8. Sustainable consumption and production	Education on the use and production of resources, products and services that have a minimal adverse impact on the environment. It promotes resource and energy efficiency, sustainable infrastructure and green jobs. It includes responsible and sustainable lifestyles, the green economy and sustainable energy.
Dimensions of learning
Knowledge	Factual information and understanding acquired through study and/or experience.
Skills	The ability to carry out a task well as a result of training, practice and innate aptitude. Skills may be physical, mental or both.
Values	Principles that form the foundation on which individuals conduct themselves and interact with others and with the environment around them.
Attitudes and behaviours	Ability to act on the basis of beliefs and knowledge acquired through study or experience.
Levels of education
Pre-primary	Education designed to support children's early cognitive, physical, social and emotional development and introduce young children to organized instruction outside of the family context. Participants are usually aged from three years.
Primary and secondary	Education designed to: (i) provide students with fundamental skills in reading, writing and mathematics (i.e. literacy and numeracy) and establish a solid foundation for learning and understanding core areas of knowledge and personal development (primary education); and (ii) prepare students for further education at post-secondary and tertiary levels and for entry into the labour market (secondary education). It includes both general and vocational education.
Tertiary	Education designed to provide learning activities in specialised fields of education. It aims at learning at a high level of complexity and specialisation. It includes both what is commonly understood as academic education and advanced vocational or professional education.
Types of education
Adult education	Education specifically targeted at individuals who are regarded as adults by their society to improve their technical or professional qualifications, further develop their abilities, enrich their knowledge with the purpose to complete a level of formal education, or to acquire, refresh or update their knowledge, skills and competencies in a particular field.
Formal education	Education that is institutionalized, intentional and planned through public organizations and recognized private bodies which – in their totality – constitute the formal education system of a country. Formal education programmes are recognized by the relevant national or sub-national education authorities. Formal education consists mostly of initial education (e.g., pre-primary, primary, secondary and tertiary education).
Non-formal education	Education that is an addition, alternative and/or a complement to formal education within the process of the lifelong learning of individuals. It is often provided to guarantee the right of access to education for all. It caters to people of all ages but does not necessarily apply a continuous pathway-structure. It may be short in duration and/or low-intensity, and it is typically provided in the form of short courses, workshops or seminars. Non-formal education mostly leads to qualifications that are not

	recognized by the relevant national or sub-national education authorities or to no qualifications at all. Non-formal education includes programmes on life skills including literacy and numeracy, work skills, and social or cultural development. Most types of adult education are also included.
Vocational education	Education that is designed for learners to acquire the knowledge, skills and competencies specific to a particular occupation or trade or class of occupations or trades. Vocational education may have work-based components (e.g. apprenticeships). Successful completion of such programmes leads to labour-market relevant vocational qualifications acknowledged as occupationally-oriented by the relevant national authorities and/or the labour market. Vocational education can be offered at secondary and post-secondary or tertiary levels of education.

VI. Questionnaire

A. Laws and policies (preamble and paras 4 and 7 of the 1974 Recommendation)

A1a. Please describe any specific national or sub-national laws, legislation or legal framework(s) in your country that govern the promotion of global citizenship education (GCED) and/or education for sustainable development (ESD). Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes² are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

Though there is no specific law or legal framework for the promotion of GCED and ESD, there are some supportive laws/legal frameworks which are aligned with the aspects/themes of GCED and ESD, for examples, National Education Policy 2010, Draft Education Act, National Skills Development Policy 2011, National Women Development Policy 2011 National Child labour Elimination Policy 2010, Parents Care Act 2013, National Youth Development Policy 2017, Children Act 2013 and Persons with Disabilities Rights And Protection Act 2013.

A1b. Please provide the full names of any laws, legislation or legal frameworks referred to in A1a and, where possible, web links to relevant documents.

A3a. Please describe any specific current national or sub-national education policies, frameworks or strategic objectives in your country that promote global citizenship education (GCED) and/or education for sustainable development (ESD). Explain whether GCED and/or ESD themes³ are mentioned explicitly or are inferred and what types or levels of education are covered.

Existing National Education Policy 2010 and National Curriculum 2012 have paid significant attention towards the aspects of GCED and ESD. For examples, some major objectives of education reported in the national education policy are:

- to inspire students with the spirit of our war of liberation and develop patriotism, nationalism and qualities of good citizens (i.e., sense of justice, non-communalism, dutifulness, awareness of human rights, cultivation of free thinking and discipline, love for honest living, the tolerance of corporate life, friendliness and perseverance);
- to remove socio-economic discrimination irrespective of race, religion and creed and to eradicate gender disparity; to develop non-communalism, friendliness, global fraternity, fellow-feeling and respect for human rights;
- to show tolerance for different ideologies for the development of a democratic culture and to help develop a life-oriented, realistic and positive outlook; and
- to ensure skills of high standard at different areas and levels of education so that learners can successfully compete in the global context.
- to build students as skilled human resources to fight the challenges of the world threatened by climate change and other natural disasters and to create in them a social awareness about environment. (Ministry of Education, 2010, pp. 8-9)

These aspects have been reflected in the national SDG4 Strategic Framework including National Indicator Framework. GCED and ESD has also been reflected in the Education Sector Plan developed by two Education Ministries in consultation with Education Local Consultative Group members including CSOs and other key stakeholders with support of UNESCO. These aspects have been reflected in the national curriculum 2012 and students' textbooks. The Government of Bangladesh initiated revising the existing national curriculum which was developed in 2012, and a competency-based new curriculum framework (K to 12) has been developed in 2020. The aspects of Global Citizenship Education and Sustainable Development have been paid specific and increased attention in the new curriculum framework. In addition Ministry of Education and Ministry of Primary and Mass Education was developed Country Action Plan in 2017 to promote GCED through education system. Besides, the Education Sector plan developed in 2020 has also promoted the 21st century skills, ICT for Education, gender equality and knowledge on sustainable development and human rights, cultural diversity, peace and tolerance, among others.

Besides these educational policies, aspects of GCED and ESD have been reflected in different action and strategic plans such as Monitoring and Evaluation Framework of the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs): Bangladesh Perspective, The Seventh Five Year Plan of Bangladesh (SFYP), 2016-2020; Making Vision 2041 a Reality: Perspective Plan of Bangladesh 2021-204; Perspective Plan of Bangladesh 2010-2021: Making Vision 2021 a Reality; Power system master plan 2016. These pollicises have strong link with the implementation of GCED and ESD through Education.

C. Teacher education (including the training of trainers and educators) (paras 4 and 33-37 of the 1974 Recommendation)

C1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are mainstreamed in initial training and in continuing professional development of teachers, trainers and educators. Indicate whether all teachers, trainers and educators or only some are required to receive training to teach GCED and/or ESD.

Through imparting knowledge on globalization, humanity, equality of rights, equity and social justice, human rights, gender, social values, moral education, team work, peace, poverty, hunger, equitable distribution of wealth, migration, environment, and teaching international conventions, treaties, protocols, etc which have already been signed and ratified by member states of the UN, or should be adopted as a member of the global family.

In principle, all teachers from primary to tertiary are required to be trained and taught on GCED and ESD.

C1b. Please provide examples of teacher training policies or curricula in which GCED and/or ESD are mainstreamed and, where possible, web links to relevant documents. If possible, include examples related to initial training and to continuing professional development.

Students of school levels are taught global issues particularly in their academic subject of Bangladesh and Global Studies. Such conceptual issues have also been incorporated in teachers' training modules.

*C2 Please indicate whether teachers, trainers and educators are trained to teach GCED and ESD during initial or pre-service training and/or through continuing professional development. Please enter the appropriate number in each white cell.

D. Student assessment (paras 4 and 5 of the 1974 Recommendation)

D1a. Please describe in which ways GCED and ESD are covered in student assessments and examinations. Indicate whether students are assessed only on their knowledge of and skills related to the topics being tested or also on their values, attitudes and/or behaviours.

GCED and ESD components are being tested through formative (continuous) and summative exams and it covers mentioned three learning areas.

*D2 Please indicate whether the GCED and ESD themes below are generally included in student assessments or examinations at each level of education by entering the appropriate number in each white cell.

E. Mainstreaming of GCED and ESD in laws and policies, curricula, teacher education and student assessment (paras 4-5, 7, 10-19 and 33-37 of the 1974 Recommendation)

*E1 Based on your responses to questions in the previous four sections (laws and policies, curricula, teacher education and student assessment) please indicate to what extent global citizenship education (GCED) and education for sustainable development (ESD) are mainstreamed⁵ in (a) education laws and policies, (b) curricula (c) teacher education (including the training of trainers and educators) and (d) student assessment in your country. Please enter the appropriate number in each white cell in the table below.

KEY:
0 Not at all	GCED and ESD are not mainstreamed.
1 Partially	Some GCED and/or ESD themes⁶ are mainstreamed. Select this option if GCED is mainstreamed but ESD is not (or vice versa).
2 Extensively	Most GCED and ESD themes are mainstreamed.
9 Not known	It is not known whether GCED and ESD are mainstreamed or not.
99 Not applicable	The given level of government does not have responsibility for the given component (policies, curricula, teacher education or student assessment) and/or does not have responsibility for the given level or type of education. This may occur at the national level in federal countries where education is the responsibility of individual states or at the sub-national level in small countries where there is only one level of government.

⁵ GCED and ESD are mainstreamed if their themes are mentioned explicitly in relevant documents and are expected to be implemented by the relevant authorities (e.g. Ministries, regional or local education authorities), educational institutions (e.g. schools, colleges and universities) and/or education professionals (e.g. teachers, lecturers, trainers and educators) as appropriate.

⁶ Refer to the schema in paragraph 11 of Section II of these guidelines.

F. Technical and vocational education and training (paras 25-29 of the 1974 Recommendation)

- F1 Please describe any major initiatives that have been undertaken to promote GCED and/or ESD in technical and vocational education and training. Describe briefly the outcomes and impact of such initiatives and provide examples of good practices.

G. Adult education (para 30 of the 1974 Recommendation)

- G1 Please describe any major initiatives that have been undertaken to promote GCED and/or ESD in adult education and other forms of non-formal education including youth education, out-of-school education, etc. Describe briefly the outcomes and impact of such initiatives and provide examples of good practices.

Basic Literacy Programme (64 Districts)
Out of School Children education Programme

H. Research and International Co-operation (paras 41-45 of the 1974 Recommendation)

- H1 Please describe what kinds of research or experimentation have been carried out to improve the implementation of GCED and/or ESD. Describe briefly how the results of such activities have influenced education policies, curricula and/or teaching practices.

Substantial research have not been conducted in the area of GCED and ESD in Bangladesh context. However, a review was conducted during 2016 -2017 on Current state of Education for peace, sustainable development and global citizenship in Bangladesh in addition Right to Education related study on policy docs also conducted with particular focus on SDG 4.1, 4.2 and 4.5 and recently the Government of Bangladesh, the University Grants Commission of Bangladesh and different Universities themselves are strongly encouraging research in this area and providing research grants. Relevancy of curriculum and employability of learners and outcome assessment of students are being done where GCED and ESD components are being in taken.

H2 Please indicate which types of activities are available that promote international co-operation at each level of education by entering the appropriate number in each white cell.

KEY: 0 = no, 1 = yes, 9 = unknown

	Pre-primary	Primary and secondary	Tertiary	Non-formal education
Hosting of international meetings on GCED and/or ESD		1	1	1
Participation in international meetings abroad on GCED and/or ESD		1	1	1
Support for programmes hosting foreign students, researchers and/or teachers		1	1	1
Membership of international networks including ASPnet		1	1	9
Joint research projects on GCED and/or ESD with foreign institutions		1	1	1
Other activities (please specify):
	▪ Customizing best practices ▪ Updating curriculum and content aligning GCED and ESD for primary, secondary, tertiary and non-formal education

I. Any other comments

- 11 Please indicate whether your country has faced any constraints, in particular related to global or national crises, including natural disasters, in implementing the 1974 Recommendation during the reporting period.

It is to be mentioned that more investment in education is a big challenge here. Natural calamities for example flood, river erosion, increased trend of migration to city and population growth are the major constraints, the country is facing. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the regular teaching-learning process was highly affected and many of the institutional process were deferred. Considering the trauma and learning loss, interim arrangements including distance learning and home based support had to adopted in the teaching learning process which has contributed to improve the empathy, health awareness and supportive attitude among the learners, parents and teachers. There were systematic efforts for accelerated the learning initiatives through different modalities. However, as the contact hour has been reduced, much effort was focused on the condensed core curriculum to continue the learning habits during the pandemic. The ministry of education and ministry of primary and mass education is working on the issue to come-up with a education recovery plan/programme focused on the most marginalized. The ELCG (including government, development partners, and Civil society) the Education Cluster is working closely with the ministry on the issue. In the next policy revision process, the GCED and ESD as focused in SDG 4.7 and 12.8 needs further attention that needs to be replicated through curriculum, teachers training, teaching-learning process, and students assessment. Increased attention is required in formative assessment so that the learner can internalize the concept and in terms of knowledge and skills and also get opportunities through projects and social class to use those that can be reflected through their behavior. The issue needs to be addressed through the back to school programmes so that the right to education is ensured for the most marginalized.

Increased attention is required for the adult learning, adolescent education and non-formal primary education including the second-chance education through a transformative process so that no one is left behind.

Increasing partnership with non-state actors, particularly with NGOs is critical to reach the out of school children.

- 12 Please provide any other relevant information or clarifications regarding the implementation of the 1974 Recommendation or the mainstreaming of GCED and ESD in your country's education system.

The Government of Bangladesh initiated revising the existing national curriculum which was developed in 2012, and a competency-based new curriculum framework (K to 12) has been developed in 2020 using broader consultation process. The aspects of Global Citizenship Education and Sustainable Development have been paid specific and increased attention. A major modification has been made in the area of students' learning assessment where a holistic approach of students' learning assessment (assessment of knowledge, skills, values and attitudes) is at the centre rather than just students' knowledge assessment.

Since the aspects of Global Citizenship Education and Sustainable Development have been paid huge attention in the latest national curriculum framework 2020, necessary measures will be taken to modify the teacher education and teacher training programs where these aspects will be significantly reflected. Therefore, it can be argued that teachers' quality will be further developed through upgraded teacher education program and they will actively contribute to the implementation of new curriculum and achieving the educational aspects of SDG 4.7.

An increased trend of focusing the aspects of GCED and ESD at tertiary level education is also evident in Bangladesh. For an example, the aspects of GCED and ESD are significantly included in the Bachelor of Education (Hons) and Masters of Education programs of the Institute of Education and Research (IER), University of Dhaka. The private university particularly International University of Business Agriculture and Technology integrated GCED and ESD in their regular activities to raise awareness among students and teachers and in collaboration with UNESCO Global Citizenship Education: Topics and Learning Objectives translated into Bangla and adapted considering national context. Capacity of NCTB staff members (77 staff) enhanced on GCED through training workshops in 2018 and 2019. The theme of the training was on Curriculum Development Methodology with focus on Global Citizenship Education (GCED) and on Development of Teaching and Learning Materials including digital content focusing on GCED. Though a cross-curricular approach has been followed, some specific courses focus on some specific aspects of GCED and ESD, for examples Gender Education, Environmental Education, Education and Development, Inclusive Education, Education in Global Perspectives.

A multi-disciplinary approach is also well evident in promoting the aspects of GCED and ESD at tertiary level education in Bangladesh. For examples, the department of Peace and Conflict, Geography and Environment, International Relations, Law, Economics, Development Studies, and Women and Gender Studies promote different aspects of GCED and ESD as parts of their curriculum. However, though there is an increased attention towards GCED and ESD at tertiary level education in Bangladesh, still there are rooms for further development, particularly in the areas of students' engagement in different activities and students' assessment.
